

IP DAY in Chicago

DATE February 7, 2007

TIME 8am-5pm
Reception at 5pm

PLACE Loyola University Chicago
Rubloff Auditorium
25 East Pearson Street

This year's IP Day in Chicago will focus on the recent trend in the Supreme Court to review intellectual property cases. The speakers will offer their perspective on this trend as it relates to the core areas of IP.

This program provides an excellent opportunity for IP practitioners, corporate counsel, students, and educators to explore cutting-edge issues in IP law.

Seating is limited. Please register promptly for this event.

The Chicago Intellectual Property Alliance (CIPA)

CIPA is a not for profit entity that identifies and promotes Chicago, the Midwest and its committed intellectual property practitioners, law schools, associations and businesses as the Intellectual Property Center for new ideas, programs and education.
